Summit County Department of Job and Family Services Employees Recognized

On Tuesday, April 20, 2010, Summit County government employees Richard Leonti and Janice Stottler were honored with Community Recognition Awards by Coleman Professional Services, a nationally recognized not-for-profit provider of behavioral health and rehabilitation programs that improve the lives of individuals, families and businesses throughout Northeast Ohio. The award ceremony was held at Guys Party Centre, located at 500 E. Waterloo Road in Akron.

Leonti and Stottler were recognized for exemplifying the spirit of partnership when helping individuals re-enter the local workforce. The two staffers work as employment service liaisons within Summit County Executive Russell M. Pry's Department of Job and Family Services' Workforce Experience Program, a government unit that places unemployed citizens receiving public assistance in work related activities that help to develop job skills and a foundation of employment history.

"Having an outside organization recognize employees within my administration is always a gratifying experience," stated Summit County Executive Russell M. Pry. "I would like to thank Rick and Jan, as well as Coleman Professional Services, for all they do for our community."
