County Executive Russ Pry Rotates Room with a View Art, September through December Exhibit Features Local Art Student

On September 11, 2015, County Executive Russ Pry assembled a new exhibit of art in the eighth floor conference room of the Ohio Building. The work of local artist and University of Akron Myers School of Art student Nathan Prebonick is featured. Nathan is a 22 year old Summit County resident working on a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree with an emphasis in painting and drawing. He plans to pursue a Master of Fine Arts degree in painting.

“Much like the time altered sites I frequent, my paintings make visible the accumulated effects of time through layered marks, revisions, additions, accumulations, subtractions, etc. serving to project a unique experience on those who engage them.” stated Prebonick about his work.

This is the latest series of art showcased in the Room with a View program, which recognizes local artists and gives their work exposure in a public setting. Mediums used to create the nine pieces in this fall’s exhibit include gouache, acrylic paint, oil paint, and oil pastels on canvas, wood panels and paper.

Since the first Room with a View exhibit opened in January 2003, the County of Summit Executive's Office has featured the talents of over 150 students and local artists.

“We look forward to being able to showcase the talents of up and coming artists and students. It is always a thrill to view their work and learn about their creative process,” said Executive Russ Pry.
