

MARGARET KANELIS

Deputy Chief Assistant Prosecutor

Margaret Kanellis began her legal career as a law student intern in the Greenbrier County Prosecuting Attorneys Office in Lewisburg, West Virginia. Upon graduation from law school she entered private law practice in Cleveland in 1994. After representing indigent clients for county public defender offices, she returned to private practice handling a civil and criminal caseload. In 2003 she joined the Summit County Prosecutor's Office first as a courtroom prosecutor assigned to the Child Abuse Unit and later as a supervisor with the Violent Crimes Unit. She currently serves as Deputy Chief Assistant Prosecutor for the Criminal and Juvenile Divisions. She is a graduate of class XI of the Child and Family Leadership Exchange and a board member for the Victim Assistance Program.
